1. You use an AI assistant to draft a client-facing report. The report is well-written, but you do not fully verify the claims before sending it. Which statement best reflects correct understanding?

1 point

- ☐ Responsibility is shared equally
- ☒ Responsibility remains with the human user
- ☐ Responsibility transfers to the AI system
- ☐ Responsibility depends on model accuracy

2. Which task is most appropriate to delegate fully to an AI system?

1 point

- ☐ Approving legal contracts
- ☐ Diagnosing a medical condition
- ☒ Generating first-draft brainstorming ideas
- ☐ Making final hiring decisions

3. You use AI to summarize internal research for a strategic decision. What level of oversight is most appropriate?

1 point

- ☐ Automatic deployment
- ☐ Spot-checking only grammar
- ☐ No review needed
- ☒ Human review of conclusions and assumptions

4. A team increasingly relies on AI-generated outputs without questioning them because they "usually sound right." What is the primary risk?

1 point

- ☐ Reduced creativity
- ☐ Slower workflows
- ☒ Overconfidence and silent error propagation
- ☐ Increased compute costs

5. Which task should you be most cautious about delegating?

1 point

- ☐ Generating meeting notes
- ☐ Drafting email templates
- ☒ Interpreting ambiguous ethical situations
- ☐ Translating informal text

6. You decide to keep a task under human control even though AI could perform it faster. Which justification best aligns with course principles?

1 point

- ☐ Speed is never important
- ☒ Accountability and judgment matter more than efficiency
- ☐ AI is always unreliable
- ☐ AI should only be used for creativity
